

That voice. Don't you hear it? SIR DINADAN: What voice? 18 MERLYN: (over singing) Nimue, Tempo 10

In a cave by a sap-phire

Hp.

Ve.

is that you? Oh, please... not yet.

shore We shall walk through an em-'raide door. And for

Hp., Bass

I must find out what will happen to him... Con moto thou-sands of ev-er-mores to come my life you shall be.

Vl. I

Str.

pp sempre

26 Oh, Nimue! So it's you! Must you steal my magic now? Couldn't you have waited a bit longer?....

Hp., Via.

Wait! Have I told him everything he should know? Did I tell him of Lancelot? I did. But Lancelot

Hp.

+Fl.

ppp p

34 and Guenevere! Did I warn him of Lancelot and Guenevere?..... And Mordred?.....

Mordred!..... I didn't warn him of Mordred, and I must!.....

I remember nothing of Lancelot and Guenevere.... And Mordred!....

It's all gone... My magic is gone.

49

(off stage) SOLO

On-ly you, On-ly I, World fare-well, World good-bye. To our

Ah Ah To our

Ah Ah To our

WOMEN'S VOICES

home 'neath the sea We shall fly, Fol - low me. f SOLO Poco meno mosso home 'neath the sea We shall fly. f poco rit. Hns. +W.W.

MERLYN:

[58] Goodbye, Arthur. My memory of the future is gone. I know no more the sorrows and joys before you

I can only wish for you in ignorance, like everyone else.

Reign long and reign happily.

Oh, and Wart — remember to think!